Dear Beth.

Thank you for your email and letter.

I accept your invitation to discuss by phone. When would be convenient for you?

I have no intention to divert resources and am confident that with mutual understanding of your needs and my needs we can resolve this to meet both sets of needs.

Referring to your letter's last sentence you stated, quote: "I also note Dr. Andrew Johnson, Group Executive Environment of the CSIRO provided information relevant to this request and in response to your queries, in his email correspondence of 14 March 2011."

One of the reasons for my FOI request is that Dr. Johnson has failed to provide empirical scientific evidence and logical scientific reasoning for his claim. Indeed, he has contradicted empirical scientific evidence.

I look forward to our discussion with intention to make a revised request that meets your needs and my needs.

Malcolm
